See you at the library
Welcome!

Copenhagen University Library (KUB) offers services to all students attending UCPH and helps to make your study time a bit easier. KUB is made up of a number of different libraries in the Copenhagen area, and there is always one near you – and you can use the libraries which you find most convenient. In this folder we present a handful of our many offers.

Access to printed and digital books and articles – from home or from the library
As a new student at Copenhagen University you need to create an account to be able to borrow and reserve materials, and to have access to the library’s many digital articles, journals, books and databases from home. You can register at REX: rex.kb.dk

REX is a library catalogue for the entire University of Copenhagen and all its libraries.

You can find relevant information resources for exactly your subject area through the libraries’ different subject guides – get an overview through: culis.ku.dk/

Study environment (study places, seminar rooms and lockers)
Copenhagen University Library has many different study facilities:

- Printers/scanners
- Datalabs with research software and 3D-print
- Reading rooms and study places for both group work and individuals

As a student at University of Copenhagen you have the opportunity to reserve and borrow a locker. Bachelor’s and Master’s students can borrow a locker for up to 6 months.

Courses and guidance
Your study will involve many written assignments and different projects, where you need to find information. There are many ways to find information but a good place to start is at the library. Copenhagen University Library offers courses and workshops for students: for example in finding literature and reference management. Check out the course calendar: kubkalender.kb.dk

Additionally you have the opportunity to book individual guidance on how to find literature. Read more on culis.ku.dk

Information specialists can assist you with relevant subject- and literature searches as well as provide guidance on how to manage your references with the help of reference management tools.
